Forbes Sought To Loot Hospital of Dope

BUREAU DIRECTOR PROPOSED SCHEME BUT GOT REFUSAL

Williams Bares Another Alleged Plot To Get Private Papers of Mortimer.

WIFE OF VICTIM WAS TO DO WORK

Witness Claims Forbes Talked of Plan To Have Secret Service Agents Flog Mortimer.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Washington, October 29.—Charges that Charles R. Forbes while director of the veterans' bureau still was seeking as late as September, 1922, to surreptitiously remove large stocks of narcotics and liquors from the government hospital at Perryville, Md., were made today at the continuation of the senate investigation of the veterans' bureau.

James W. Williams, a Philadelphia dairyman, was the witness, his testimony being designed to support in part the sensational story told to the committee last week by Elias H. Mortimer, also of Philadelphia, about his alleged relations with Forbes at a time when he was seeking contracts for hospitals from the director.

Williams testified that aside from proposing removal of the narcotics and liquors, Forbes with a man named Bieber had sought to obtain from Mrs. Mortimer certain papers belonging to Mortimer and also to "embitter" Mrs. Mortimer against her husband. This was at a time after Mortimer, according to his testimony, had "broken" with Forbes and when, Williams understood, Mrs. Mortimer was contemplating a divorce from her husband.

Would Divert $80,000. The witness also told of remarks by Forbes that $80,000 was "coming to Mortimer, but that he would see that Mrs. Mortimer got it." Williams explained that from what he could gather from the conversation Mortimer was "arranging contracts" with the bureau. The witness also said Forbes had stated that Mortimer was to be arrested and that the reason the former director sought his papers was that he did not want them in the hands of the government.

Forbes, accompanied by his attorney, James S. Early-Smith, was present throughout the sessions today. During Williams' testimony he made a number of notes and conferred frequently with his counsel, who apparently had some difficulty in restraining him from interrupting the examination as he did on several occasions at the opening of the investigation.

"THE OPEN ROAD"

Hard surfacing of the main highways has meant a lot to the farmer. Instead of wallowing through the mud of obscure by-roads he can now drive his team or machine over a solid surface—direct to the stores of the county seat.

Good roads mean a saving of time and effort for the farmer. Here in Atlanta YOUR eyes daily have the opportunity to travel over little "roads" which mean a saving of time and effort for YOU. These "roads" are the want ads of The Constitution.

They lead to the stores where you can buy the typewriter you've been looking for or the safe you've been wanting, or the overcoat you need this winter.

Without them you will wander up and down the streets of Atlanta not knowing where your best opportunities lie.

Kemal Pasha Is Named President Of Turk Republic

National Assembly Chooses Ruler and Adopts Constitution He Proposed.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Constantinople, October 29.—The national assembly at Ankara has voted the establishment of the Turkish republic. Mustafa Kemal Pasha has been unanimously elected president.

The assembly accepted the constitutional amendments proposed without opposition and loudly cheered the republic.

The influential popular party, at a meeting previously held, accepted Mustafa Kemal's proposal to proclaim a Turkish republic and for the election of a president who would be empowered to nominate a premier.

The party also accepted the following proposals by Kemal: The language to be Turkish; the religion Islamism; the president of the republic to be elected by the deputies for a term of four years, eligible for reelection; the president to be the chief of state, with the right to preside over both the council of ministers and the grand national assembly; the president to nominate the president of the council of commissioners who will choose his own colleagues, to be submitted to the assembly for approval.

URGES AMERICA TO CAST MIGHT IN PEACE SCALE

Lloyd George Again Urges Alliance of Britain and U. S. To Save Civilization.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS. Richmond, Va., October 29.—Speaking at a luncheon here today, David Lloyd George, war-time premier of Great Britain, urged that America cast her might on the side of "humanity and peace."

"My last appeal in leaving the capital of the south," he said, "is an appeal to you who have memories of a great war which raged around this capital and who have more recent memories of another war where you contributed to help liberty, that you should also cast the might and majesty of your nation on the side of humanity and peace."

The address was delivered from the doorway of the home of his host, John Stewart Bryan, publisher of The Richmond News-Leader, at the close of a luncheon and reception to prominent citizens and after he had completed a tour of battlefields in this vicinity.

Speaking of his impressions of those fields as well as of the Wilderness and Gettysburg, which he visited the previous two days, the former premier declared that, terrible as those battles were, he had been struck by how much more terrible in death and destruction were the great battles of the world war.

Lesson in Contrast.

The lesson of the contrast between the battlefields of today and those of sixty years ago, he said, is that if civilization is to be saved at all, it will be necessary to think, think in time, think resolutely, and act to put an end to war altogether. The progress of the forces of destruction, he added, is at greatly accelerated speed.

To save the world from something which nearly destroyed civilization five years ago, he continued, and which certainly will overthrow it as the Visigoths and Huns did in the early days of the Christian era, somebody must intervene. The British empire, he declared, "is ready to cast the whole of its influence in this direction, but standing alone cannot do it."

"Standing together," he added, "your people and ours, the two mightiest commonwealths on earth, can save civilization, and unless they do humanity is doomed."

Admiral Jackson.

Mr. Lloyd George said he had been anxious to visit not only the battlefields but Virginia, "which we regard in our country as a state where some of the best blood came and settled." Speaking of the great part played by the state in history, he mentioned the names of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe and brought applause when he coupled

TAYLOR BULLETIN ON COTTON REPORT CAUSES SENSATION

"Some One on Inside," He Says, and "If So, They Will Make Report So as to Get Play."

OFFICIAL'S STATEMENT PUZZLES COTTON TRADE

Speculation Is Rife as to What Government Figures on November 2 Will Show.

BY CLARK W. BOOTH, Financial Editor The Constitution. With the statement, "Everything points to some one on the inside of the market; if so, they will make their report so as to get a play on it," J. A. Taylor, statistician and head of the National Ginners' association, created a sensation yesterday in his bulletin on the cotton crop condition report to be issued on November 2 by the United States department of agriculture.

The statement of Mr. Taylor, which was read by brokers on the floor of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange, was contained in the regular bulletin issued by the National Ginners' association, headed "Cotton Bulletin No. 568," and dated Memphis, Tenn.

The particularly significant paragraph of the bulletin reads as follows: "We have had a good advance and the market acts like it has reached the top for a while, depending some on what the government estimate is on the second. I feel sure their report will either be around 10,000,000 or above 10,500,000, because everything points to some one on the inside of the market. If so, they will make their report so as to get a play on it. Of course, I might be mistaken, but it certainly looks that way."

Brokers in Air. A number of brokers and traders after reading the bulletin stated they would play safe and keep out of the market until after the date of the cotton estimate.

They take this attitude, declaring that private reports on the condition of the crop as of October 25 can hardly be depended on with such a statement regarding the report of the department of agriculture as contained in the Taylor bulletin.

It will be remembered several weeks ago, several brokerage firms, on receipt of the news that the government would issue a supplementary condition report on November 2, as of May 25, wired the department of agriculture asking that bureau what parts would be used to determine the condition of the crop. An unusual reply came. The government, the wire said, would not divulge the parts that would be used in the coming report.

Changes Methods. The cotton trade since that time has "been at sea." On previous occasions the government had willingly given out the parts that would be used in determining the official condition report, and these parts, although they were declared by noted statisticians to be too high, were accepted and private estimates made. These estimates were all the trade had to work by, until the day of the official government report.

There is a great deal of speculation as to what figures will be used. If the parts for this month are the same as those used in previous months, it stands to reason that the condition report will show an acreage of something around 10,500,000 to 10,700,000 bales, brokers declare. If the parts are smaller, as a number of traders declare they should be, the acreage will show around 10,000,000 bales. However, the trade in this section declares it will not be caught off guard as sufficient discounting has already taken place.

LOSS OF HUSBAND CAUSES ANGUISH TO VALUE OF $235

Paris, October 29.—A French court has valued a husband at $235 in the case of Mme. DuBois, probably the unluckiest widow in France. Her first husband was killed in an automobile accident, in which she was badly injured. At the age of 52 she remarried. Her second husband, who was 62, was killed a few minutes after the wedding ceremony, when the motor car in which the couple were starting on their honeymoon was struck by a street car.

Mme. DuBois sued the company on the grounds of mental anguish caused by losing her second husband. She was awarded $235.

FRENCH PREDICT ULTIMATE ACCORD ON HUGHES' PLAN

Official Circles in Paris Believe the Reparations Commission May Start Arrangements At Once.

Paris, October 29.—(By Associated Press.)—French official circles today indicated their expectation that a final accord with the British government regarding the condition under which the proposed committee of experts will examine Germany's capacity to pay will be reached within a day or two and that the reparations commission may go ahead with the arrangements before the week-end.

FRENCH RESTRICTIONS HELD UNIMPORTANT.

Washington, October 29.—Premier Poincaré's statement of the French attitude toward the new reparations inquiry is construed in official quarters here as little more in substance than a reassertion of the obvious fact that rights required under the treaty of Versailles cannot be abridged except by the consent of the parties to the treaty.

For that reason the restrictions

Meantime, he forgot what it was all about—then he was afraid to go home.

She took advantage of him in the first place. She should have tied that string early in the morning before he left home.

Why tell anybody yesterday afternoon something you want them to remember to do today?

Would you send a salesman out yesterday afternoon to remind the trade to be sure and come in and buy today?

Why not tell them first thing this morning if you really want to get what's coming to you?

STOKES' WITNESS FORCED TO TELL OF LOSS OF CODE

Horace G. Knowles Bares Details of Theft of U. S. Diplomatic Cipher in Bucharest.

New York, October 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Theft of a secret United States diplomatic code in Bucharest fifteen years ago was recalled in the Stokes divorce retrial today during an attack on the testimony of Horace G. Knowles, former American minister to Balkan and Latin-American nations.

Knowles said the code was offered to the Japanese government for $40,000 but asserted he had never heard it was bought later for $20,000 by Secretary of State Elihu Root. He denied he had been dismissed after the incident.

The former diplomat, regarded by attorneys on both sides as the strongest witness remaining among those who testified for W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy hotel owner, swore earlier in the retrial that he had seen Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes in the apartment of Edgar T. Wallace, principal correspondent, while waiting for a friend, Dr. L. M. Benson. Dr. Benson denied in a deposition from Los Angeles that he had ever seen Mr. Knowles in the apartment.

Mr. Knowles, subpoenaed for re-examination by Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel for Mrs. Stokes, admitted the code had disappeared while it was entrusted to his care. He said the thief was a messenger in the legation whose name he could not remember. Denying he had ever heard of Secretary Root's stating that he was not a fit person to represent the United States anywhere, Mr. Knowles asked to be permitted to give his version of the incident.

Court in Uphear. The code, he said, was kept in an unlocked drawer when he arrived at Bucharest, as there was no safe in the legation. He said he slept with it under his mattress for two weeks and then it disappeared shortly before the messenger left the place. He said it next appeared at the United States embassy in St. Petersburg, where officials refused to buy it, after which it was offered to members of the staff of the Japanese embassy in the Russian capital. The Japanese, he asserted, had it turned over to the United States without reading it.

"How much was paid to get it back," asked Mr. Untermyer. "I didn't know of anything being paid for it," answered Mr. Knowles. "That is not any information," shouted Mrs. Stokes' attorney.

Max D. Steuer, counsel for Mr. Stokes, denied his feet. He said the code was in an uphear. "You lied," he began. "This blackguard here—" interrupted Mr. Untermyer.

Got Information in Capital. Mr. Steuer demanded that Mr. Untermyer take the stand and testify to the source of his information. Mr. Untermyer at first demurred angrily, but finally was sworn. He said he got the advice in a letter from a member of his associated law firm in Washington.

Under examination by Mr. Steuer, Mr. Knowles denied he had ever been blamed or admonished by the state department for the code's disappearance. He said Secretary Root had him transferred and afterward to a much more important and delicate post in Nicaragua.

Questioned by Mr. Untermyer, Mr. Knowles said he was introduced to Mrs. Stokes by Henry Wood House, who was then interested in the Chester concession in the Near East. He admitted being interested in a similar grant, but asserted he did not know Mr. Stokes claimed 10 per cent interest in the Chester development project.

"If you did not know that, why did you sign his paper?" asked Mr. Untermyer, handing the witness a big document. Mr. Knowles said he had not read it, but had merely signed it as a witness to Mr. Stokes' signature.

Wallace Denies Relations. Wallace, on the stand most of the forenoon, denied in detail the accusation against Mrs. Stokes, although he became slightly confused on dates. He admitted having turned up a picture of Mrs. Stokes when he decided to close their acquaintance, which he testified was only casual.

Bulls of Mexico Fight Different, Finds Matador

Chicago's Busy Corner at Noon No Place for an Arena.

Chicago, October 29.—Romano Myrdindora, matador who defeated all the bulls in Tia Juana, found Chicago's brand of "bulls" too much. Romano came here with $24,000 to spend, all accumulated in his matadoring. He is as well known in Mexico for his prowess against the bull, he says, as Jack Dempsey is in America for his fighting.

But along about noon Monday, when several thousand shoppers and lunchers were milling around at the "busiest corner in the world," State and Madison streets, Romano decided that here was an audience worthy of the name and sought again to hear the plaudits of the multitude.

In full matadoric regalia, he stepped out and began to do his stuff with an imaginary bull.

Traffic was blocked completely. It took five cops to undo it again and Matador Myrdindora was driven away in the paddy wagon, wondering how and why.

"I have conquered all the bulls I ever met until I came to Chicago," boasted Romano from the confines of the housegown.

GIRL SAYS KLAN FOES OF CLARKE CAUSED HER SUIT

Mrs. Steele, in Affidavits Made Before Suit, Claims Her Enemies Furnished Her Funds.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Charges of misuse of funds of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, fee-splitting and efforts to "secure" the filing of a breach of promise suit against E. Y. Clarke, former head of the propagation department of the Klan, featured the reading in Fulton county court Monday of a series of affidavits intended to be used by the plaintiffs in the suit of David M. Kittenhouse and others for a receiver for the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. Only a portion of the affidavits gathered by the plaintiffs were read, Judge John D. Humphries adjourning court until 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the reading will be resumed.

Two affidavits made by Mrs. Helen K. Steele, who recently filed a suit for $100,000 against Mr. Clarke, charging him with breach of promise, were read before Judge Humphries. The affidavits made prior to the time of the filing of the suit tell of numerous meetings with Tom Akers, formerly employed in the publicity department of the Klan, in which he endeavored to induce her to file suit against Mr. Clarke.

Calls at Palace. The first affidavit tells of an alleged telephone call from the imperial palace of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan here, during which she was asked to call Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard. She said she called the palace and was told to call another telephone number at 8 o'clock the night of June 12, 1923. She called this number, and a man representing himself as Dr. Evans answered. He asked her to call at his office in the imperial palace, she said, but she was afraid and he then suggested that she talk to a man named Campbell but she also refused to do this. She was then asked to talk to Tom Akers, the man telling her to call Akers at the imperial palace. She related how she asked Wilbur Gordon, who she thought was a friend of E. Y. Clarke, about talking to Akers and was advised to find out what he wanted.

She said Akers made an appointment with her at Courtland and Ellis streets for 11 o'clock the next morning and that he met her with an automobile. They went for a ride and Akers, she said, told her he sympathized with her in her trouble (she had been ill), saying a woman had called him and told him about her. Akers told her, she said that he knew she had been mistreated and asked if she could prove that Clarke had been in her home. She told him that Clarke's car had been parked in front of the house several nights.

Akers told her, she said, that Clarke was entirely out of the Klan and that he would be convicted for white slavery in Texas and that they had things at the palace their own way and were going to run it to suit themselves.

"His Days Numbered." Mrs. Steele said she then asked Akers "how about Colonel Simmons (Imperial Emperor of the Klan) and Federal Legions on Way To Quell Saxon Revolt May Be Diverted To Scene.

STRESEMANN STRIKES IN SAXON DIET MEET

Several Communist Members Arrested When Government Moves To Enforce Orders.

BY FERDINAND JAHN.

Berlin, October 29.—Armed fascist forces under Adolf Hitler and Bavarian troops massed on the Thuringian border late Monday night. Simultaneously, the federal cabinet in Berlin was confronted with a socialist demand that Chancellor Stresemann apologize for ejecting Saxon ministers from office.

Socialists in the federal cabinet threatened to quit unless the apology was made.

The object of the Bavarian concentration is unknown. It may be connected with the persistent report that Bavaria is planning to proclaim a new "federal government" disavowing Berlin and taking over the leadership of the reich.

Bavaria's long and intentional delay in answering Berlin's demands that "kidnaped" federal troops be restored and the recent declaration of Bavarian Dictator von Kahr that he will not deal with the present Berlin government give support to the rumor.

Federal Troops On Move. The mobilization on the Thuringian border is concentrated at Kronach, Coburg and Bamberg. Armaments of the troops include field guns and airplanes.

It is understood that Captain Erhardt, famed in the Kapp putch, is one of the leaders of the force. He recently escaped from a federal prison. Government reinforcements from Pomerania are moving toward Saxony, which adjoins Thuringia. They were already en route when word of the new Bavarian menace was received, and the movement is not connected with the concentrations.

The police guard about the Berlin reichstag has been increased with a view to repressing possible disturbances here. It is understood that the government is nervous over the latest Bavarian developments.

Takes Sharp Action. Determined to end Saxon defiance, Chancellor Stresemann has taken sharp action toward the rebel leaders of the state.

Federal troops entered the Saxon diet Monday and arrested a number of communist members who were in conference there. A federal commissioner has been appointed for the state. General Mueller, federal military dictator of Saxony, has prohibited Tuesday's session of the diet in order to prevent members from availing themselves of parliamentary immunity.

Ex-minister of Justice Heinze has been appointed state commissar of

LITTLE CHANGE IN SITUATION

Dusseldorf, October 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The situation in the Ruhr and the Rhineland, both political and economic, gave little evidence today of movement either way. No notable activities either by the separatists or the unemployed were recorded over night. Although the general progressive outlook which has been threatened was expected to begin today no reports had been received up to midday of actual closing of factories or mines.

No official information was available as to what progress was being made concerning the agreements reached with the great industrial interests. Confirmation as to the reported agreement with the Krupp interests was lacking, although it was unofficially admitted the agreement was as good as completed.

German observers in Dusseldorf said today they had reason to believe the separatists had postponed their plans for occupying this city, in which the French make their headquarters. The Germans place great importance upon the new orders from the French command for rearming the Dusseldorf police, who have been ordered to use their arms vigorously against any further disturbances. Blue police have been stationed at the various danger points about the city and suburbs and two armored cars have been put at their disposal.

The leaders of both the separatists and the industrialists appear to be awaiting the next move by the other side. So far as the separatists are concerned they are apparently resting content with their present gains. The only further additions to their domains over the week-end were Bingen, Gau-Algesheim and five small places all in the southern section of the French occupied zone.

The French official communiqué announced fifteen members of the German police had been expelled from Aix-la-Chapelle for disobeying the orders of the Belgians to maintain neutrality as regarded the separatists.

The only trouble recorded in territory under separatist control was at Wallheim near Aix-la-Chapelle, where one separatist was killed during a disturbance.

FALL FREQUENT GUEST OF MAGNATE SINCLAIR

Washington, October 29.—Harry E. Sinclair, whose lease of the Tea Pot Dome Naval Oil Reserve led to one of the bitterest controversies of the last Congress, was quizzed about the leasing negotiations and his relations with government officials generally when he appeared as a witness today in the inquiry being conducted by the senate public lands committee.

In large part the testimony of the oil magnate was a repetition of the story he told last spring to the La Follette oil investigating committee. He explained the motives that led him to sign the Tea Pot Dome lease, the conditions in the oil industry at the time, and the present status of the property. Under questioning he also touched briefly on his personal association with Albert B. Fall, who, as secretary of the interior, signed the lease.

The Sinclair company had oil property in the adjoining Salt Creek field prior to the Tea Pot Dome lease, Mr. Sinclair told the committee, and had been confronted with the serious problem of getting it out to market. He declared, however, that the pipe line now being constructed to Kansas City at an approximate cost of $25,000,000 would have been built by his company had not the government insisted upon making such a project a part of the Tea Pot Dome contract.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, wanted to know whether former Secretary Fall had not been a guest of Mr. Sinclair on other occasions than during the trip to Europe last summer. Mr. Sinclair said Mr. Fall had dinner with him on several occasions and had been his guest on his private car. He added that other cabinet officers also had made trips with him, but he denied that Attorney General Daugherty had been his guest on his private car at the Kentucky races.

I replying to further questions he said he had contributed to both the republican and democratic national campaign funds last year, but could not recall the amount of either contribution.

Another witness at today's hearing was Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, who told the committee that although he helped draft the executive order transferring Tea Pot Dome from the navy to the interior department he did not know of the Sinclair lease until it had been made. Published reports which made it appear that he testified to such knowledge when he appeared before the committee last Saturday, he said, were incorrect.

COOK'S CLAIMS TO POLE INJECTED INTO HIS TRIAL

Fort Worth, Texas, October 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The claim that Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer and internationally known character, discovered the north pole today was injected into his trial in federal court here with 13 others charged with using the United States mails to defraud in connection with oil operations.

The claim that Dr. Cook discovered the pole was made in a circular letter alleged to have been sent to prospective stock buyers by Dr. Cook, while president of the Petroleum Producers' association. The letter stated that Dr. Cook had been assailed by newspapers for his claim and also for the reason that he did not give them advertising.

The letter stated that Dr. Cook was a stockholder in the Cox Realization company and that he transferred the stock to the Petroleum Producers' association.

First Meeting in Virginia.

Williams, in presenting his statement to the committee, said that all of the conversations to which he referred took place at his home, where Mrs. Mortimer's sister resided and where Mrs. Mortimer frequently visited. Forbes came there, he added, to attend the wedding of the sister and made in all, four or five visits. Williams testified, however, that he first met the former director at the drug store of a Mr. Hogeshead in Staunton, Va., where Forbes first brought up discussion of the narcotics and liquor at Perryville.

Williams asserted that it was on the last visit to his home that Forbes proposed that Williams' firm supply the Berryville hospital with cream and haul out the liquor and narcotics on the return trips of the trucks. Forbes was quoted as saying that he "might make it interesting" for Williams, but the latter declared he did not entertain the proposal. The conversation did not reach the point of discussion of the disposition of the stuff, the witness said.

Finally Got Papers.

Williams testified that the papers which he said Forbes and Bieber sought finally were turned over at his home to a lawyer named Timberlake, of Staunton, Va., who he understood was there "in the interest of Forbes and Bieber," and who also was to obtain a divorce for Mrs. Mortimer.

As the witness explained it, the papers had been given to Mrs. Mortimer by her husband for safekeeping and she had placed them in a safe deposit drawer in a Washington bank. After Forbes and Mrs. Mortimer, accompanied by Mrs. Williams, came to Washington and took them to the Williams home, where they were locked up until Timberlake arrived.

The lawyer examined the papers in Williams' presence and the latter recalled that there were two whisky withdrawal permits in blank to which was signed the name of Interior Revenue Commissioner Blair. The witness said he could not say whether the signatures were genuine.

Use U. S. "Strong Arm" Men.

The witness said he had heard Forbes say that "they were about to have Mortimer arrested by their strong arm men, and that they did not want Mrs. Mortimer to have possession of the papers at the time of the arrest."

Asked as to the identity of the "strong arm men" Williams said it was his understanding that they were department of justice operatives and added that there had been some talk by Forbes of having these men take Mortimer outside of Washington, flog him and drive him away from the capital.

The committee turned from this line of inquiry to take up the purchase by the veterans bureau of a hospital at Excelsior Springs, Mo., for $118,100. John F. O'Ryan, general counsel for the committee, said the appraised value of the plant was between $30,000 and $40,000 and that there had been "much criticism" of the transaction.

LAWLESSNESS HIT BY JUDGE RUSSELL IN SUNDAY SPEECH

Commerce, Ga., October 29.—(Special.)—Judge Lewis C. Russell, of Windsor, under the auspices of the laymen of the Athens Presbytery held a service at Thyratry church, near Jefferson, Sunday afternoon. Judge Russell took for his subject the "Origin and Problem of Authority."

He explained the origin of authority, and discussed in an able manner the problems now confronting not only the people of Georgia but of the whole world, in the matter of law and order.

In his discussion of the origin of authority, he traced it back through the scriptures to God himself, and clearly showed that all authority originated from a divine source. Judge Russell also discussed the world-wide disregard of law and the problems as to how to change present lawless conditions largely prevailing throughout the world.

One of his auditors, at the conclusion of the judge's remarks, said that he never knew before that he was "a good preacher as well as a good lawyer."

Judge Russell will soon hold an adjourned term of Jackson superior court. This will be his first visit to this county in the official capacity as judge of the superior courts of the Piedmont circuit.

Judge Russell makes it a rule to open his courts with prayer offered by himself from the bench.

"I Started with Linoleum in My Kitchen Now I Have It on Every Floor"

"I WAS tired on the day that I first thought of linoleum for my floors. We live in an old house. There had never been linoleum in either kitchen or bathroom. The eternal scrubbing and cleaning of rough wood floors had exhausted me. And the pound, pound, pound on hard wood all day long made my feet ache and burn. I went to the store to get a small, clean-looking pattern that might save housework. The salesman showed me a pretty black and gray tile which I bought for my kitchen. Then he showed me the new, modern linoleum designs for the living-room, dining-room, and bedroom, whose beauty surprised me. 'Why not put linoleum floors in all your rooms?' he asked me.

Linoleum floors—ideal floors "A week later all my linoleum floors had been laid and waxed—brown jaspé in living-room and dining-room, a small all-over carpet design with a touch of blue in it in the two bedrooms. Everything harmonizes, and my rugs look nicer than ever on my linoleum floors.

"I'll never forget that first day's work after my new linoleum was laid. Resilient? Armstrong's Linoleum seems really buoyant after wood floors. It's a foot-easy, springy flooring. Think of it! No scrubbing of rough boards, no dust-filled cracks to struggle with! Nothing but surface dust gathers on linoleum. The use of a slightly waxed dust-mop or a damp cloth keeps it always fresh and bright-looking.

"I have never seen any floor more beautiful or more practical than linoleum."

Write for free sample and booklet Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old," containing a score of colorplates of distinctive designs that you can see at good stores—Jaspés, carpet inlays, tile inlays, and printed patterns; linoleum rugs, printed and inlaid; also information on laying linoleum and how to care for your linoleum floors.

COLLEGE LAUDS BANKERS' HONESTY

Washington, October 29.—Investment bankers of the country, gathered here for the annual convention of the National Investment Bankers' association, were told by President Coolidge in an address today that the country depended upon their assistance and help "to weed out those who are not desirable by reason of their lack of honesty" in the banking business.

Addressing the bankers from the south portico of the white house, the president told them that they were filling an important place in society by providing investment opportunities for "thrifty American citizens."

"But you do more than that," he continued. "You provide for the gathering together of the resources of the nation, putting them in order for the purpose of supporting the industries and commerce of our nation. You have your responsibilities. It is necessary that you should exercise sound judgment and discretion; it is necessary that you should always provide a safe and fair background on which your customers may rely. If there is anybody interested in honesty in the transaction of business, it is those who are engaged in making investments of the nation and it is a great pleasure to commend with an almost universal commendation the honesty and the character of those who are engaged in this great enterprise."

"It is almost impossible to weed out every undesirable element, but the present state of peace will hang by a slender thread and the welfare of this country will be in danger."

Participation in the American government in discussion of German reparations would not involve this country in European politics or diplomacy but holds "an encouraging hope" for the settlement of the great outstanding problem," John A. Prescott of Kansas City, president of the bankers' association declared in his address.

"It seems unlikely that any feasible composition of the questions of reparations can be brought about without the active cooperation of the United States," Mr. Prescott said, "and that so long as this is withheld and the problem is not solved even the present state of peace will hang by a slender thread and the welfare of this country will be in danger."

Several Names Suggested. It is understood several names were suggested to Governor Walker for the place, but he had virtually centered upon his selection before the other suggestions were made and the matter was taken up with Mr. Anderson in Macon Monday forenoon.

Mr. Anderson has been a member of the executive committee of the Georgia Highway association since it was organized, and has been a commissioner from Georgia on that association many years. He was one of the pioneers in active good roads movements in the state, and has probably participated in and made urgent calls at more good roads meetings than any other one man in the state.

As an illustration of the manner in which the governor's selection is being received, Ed Maddox, of Rome, who was in Atlanta when the announcement was made by Governor Walker, said:

"That is a very happy and a very helpful selection. My community is in the northern division but the appointment of Mr. Anderson will be highly pleasing to the people in that part of the state. He has devoted much of his time, and in a very unselfish manner, to the highway development efforts in Georgia and I suspect has visited more counties in that state than any other man. I know he has been in practically every county in the seventh district in the interest of good roads, because I have been on a number of those trips with him, and am familiar with what he has done in that section. It has been a work of love with him, and he has most unselfishly spent his money in that way. Governor Walker's selection, in my opinion, is a magnificent one and will be very helpful to the highway department of the state."

He is survived by two daughters, two sons and a brother.

Funeral services will be held in Freeport Tuesday morning, and interment will be there.

FAIRLEE STREET OPENING WILL BE ARRANGED TODAY

Opening of Fairlee street from Marietta into the railroad yards will be arranged at a joint meeting this afternoon of the bridge committees of the city and the railroad company. Contracts for a sprinkler system for a building annex erected to replace part of a building to be razed in opening Fairlee will be submitted for approval. Builders expect to have Fairlee ready for opening by January 1. Immediately on opening of that inlet into the railroad yards, work can begin on closing the Forsyth street viaduct underpasses.

Mayor Walter A. Sims, who has been attending the meeting, will ask that the Spring street viaduct be opened as soon as possible to relieve traffic on the city streets. He said the other viaducts, Walter G. Cooper, chairman of the bond commission committee, stated Monday that December 15 is the probable date for opening the big bridge. To be too hasty in its completion might shorten its life 100 years, he told the mayor.

URGES AMERICA TO CAST MIGHT FOR PEACE

with them the name of Woodrow Wilson.

Another man of Virginia blood, although more often thought of in connection with the north, he continued, was Abraham Lincoln. In explaining that he admired especially both Lincoln and "Stonewall" Jackson, although he remarked that the two were men of different qualities, he said that he regarded Lincoln as the greatest figure from the world point of view produced on this continent.

Washington, he declared, fought "a narrow, corrupt oligarchy" in England which in our country was oppressing us as well as you, but we had no right to fight the oligarchy in England. That was in the hands of God, he added, and has been settled.

South Is Loyal. The military leaders of the south, he said, "skill, courage and daring, never excelled and hardly equaled in history."

"But your great attachment to the south," he continued, "does not prevent loyalty to the country of which you are an integral part and to which you have contributed so much."

Your pride in Virginia is honorable to yourself and a source of strength to the republic."

Mr. Lloyd George was met here today by Governor E. Lee Trinkle, and in company with him, with Mayor George Ansley, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, of Washington, Mr. Bryan and Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, editor of the News Leader, as guides, went thirty miles out of the city to the site of the battle of Gettysburg, which was fought on June 26 to July 1, 1862.

Returning he placed wreaths at the base of the statues of Robert E. Lee and "Stonewall" Jackson.

The entire course of the seven days' fighting from Seven Pipes or Fairlee to Malvern Hill from where McClellan finally retreated before Lee and Jackson to the protecting guns of the federal fleet in the James river, he followed with intense interest. Map in hand he left his automobile frequently, and at one point walked with a brisk step, which threatened to outdistance the rest of the party, across the ground where was fought the battle of Frazier's farm to the once bloody slope and summit of Malvern hill.

Mr. Lloyd George left his automobile for the first time at White Oaks swamp, where "Stonewall" Jackson died to go through and reinforce Lee at Frazier's farm when the latter hoped to surround McClellan's army and destroy it.

History Made Here. Speaking to an American member of his party at that spot, the distinguished visitor said:

"This is one of the places that determined the history of your country. It was here that Jackson said, 'I am quite convinced of this. It was one of the defects of his character, his strength as well as his weakness.'"

At another time when it was explained that McClellan was originally within four miles of Richmond with a force superior in numbers, which threatened to take the southern capital by siege and that Lee obliterated that threat by daring to attack, Mr. Lloyd George remarked that in his opinion the southern leader was justified in such strategy because of the superior quality of his troops. Later, he added, the quality of the northern troops improved.

All Were Americans. But after all, he said, "they were all Americans."

Upon returning from the battle fields, the former premier was taken on a drive about the city, being escorted by many groups of school children and passing through lines of high school cadets in uniform with their bayonets fixed to their rifles.

Stops were made for visits to the Confederate museum, which was the white house of the Confederacy, where Mr. Lloyd George examined the uniforms of the uniform worn by Robert E. Lee, and at Valentine museum where other war relics are on view. At Battle Abbey, another museum, he inspected closely portraits and paintings of the prominent southern leaders.

In the afternoon the former premier went to the Confederate Soldiers' home where he met many of the veterans and in the gray of the south. Dining privately tonight, he later went to his train to leave before midnight for Philadelphia, where he will speak at the Forum just before noon tomorrow.

WILSON WAS ABLE TO PERFORM JOB

Wilmington, Del., October 27.—Sharp issue is taken by counsel for the Chemical Foundation, Inc., with attorneys for the government that President Wilson was seriously ill at the time he signed the executive order of February 13, 1920, which the Foundation claims confirmed the sale to it by the alien property custodian of 4,500 seized enemy dye and chemical patents.

In their final brief filed in federal district court here today in the government's suit for the recovery of the patents, William D. Guthrie and his associates charge that the government's suggestion that the order was signed "in the sick room" was evidently made "in order to induce the court to give this executive order little or no legal force and effect because of the illness of the president."

They can undertake to show that Mr. Wilson at that time was perfectly capable of and in fact was transacting a large amount of public business.

Attention is directed that it was on "that very day" that Mr. Wilson wrote to then Secretary of State Lansing rebuking him for calling cabinet meetings during the president's illness. The statement also is made that Joseph P. Tumulty, who then was secretary to Mr. Wilson, has informed counsel that during January and February, 1920, "the president conferred with his secretary almost daily and frequently with members of his cabinet, that he went each day to his study and worked there, and that he there daily dictated letters to his confidential stenographer, and transacted other public business."

Concluding their final argument in the case, the trial which began last June, counsel for the foundation assert that the controlling issue involved is whether a court "can properly substitute its judgment for that of President Wilson in respect of what was or was not in the public interest in war time."

Proposed Tech-Georgia Game Barred by S.I.C. Rule

Post-Season Encounters Prohibited by Southern Athletic Association

Dr. Brittain Says Tech Is Willing to Entertain Overtures Looking Toward Resumption of Relations.

The proposed post-season football game between the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech, endorsed yesterday by Governor Clifford Walker as a means of raising funds for the Confederate memorial at Stone Mountain, is prohibited by regulations of the Southern Intercollegiate conference, of which both Tech and Georgia are members, it was brought out last night by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of the Georgia School of Technology.

According to Dr. Brittain, conference delegates at their convention held in Atlanta last December, went on record as being opposed to post-season games and added a clause to the association's constitution forbidding such encounters.

The Saturday following Thanksgiving day is officially regarded as the end of the football season.

In a statement to The Constitution last night, Dr. S. V. Sanford, faculty director of athletics at the University of Georgia and president of the Southern Intercollegiate conference, declared that the game possibly could be sanctioned by a vote of the executive committee, of which he is chairman, Dr. J. H. Crenshaw, faculty director at Tech, also being a member of this body.

Dr. Sanford stated that the conference, as a whole, is opposed to post-season games in any branch of collegiate athletics.

While admitting that he saw no possible chance for Georgia and Tech to meet this season on the gridiron, Dr. Brittain stated that should overtures for the resumption of athletics between the state's leading colleges be made by authorities at the university, Tech's athletic committee would be pleased to give it instant and serious consideration.

The Governor's Statement.

"The time has come for Georgia Tech and the University of Georgia to resume athletic relations," Governor Walker declared.

"As an alumnus of the University of Georgia and a member of the boards of trustees of both Tech and Georgia, I believe the two institutions should resume athletic relations immediately," the governor said.

"The students of the two institutions for the most part are native Georgians and to say that Tech and Georgia cannot meet in athletic contests would be nothing short of foolishness. The two schools are state institutions and I refuse to believe that they cannot resume cordial relations in 1919, following charges and counter-charges between students

BLUE NOSE IS RACE WINNER

Halifax, N. S., October 29.—The schooner Blue Nose of Lunenburg, Canadian defender of the International Fishermen's trophy, today defeated the American challenger, the Columbia, of Gloucester, in the first race of the series, leading the challenger by 1 minute 20 seconds over a 40-mile course off Halifax harbor.

The result was a surprise for the Blue Nose won in what was generally conceded to be Columbia weather—light, variable winds.

With the breeze making six knots at the start, increasing to 17 later, and veering from due west to southwest, the cunning Blue Nose once more proved the truth of the fishermen's motto, that all things being equal the bigger boat is the better boat.

Boat to boat, the Blue Nose carried off the honors. Skipper, Captain Ben Paine, who handled the Columbia, was awarded the general verdict over Captain Angus Walters, of the Canadian fisherman. Walters drew first blood at the start, leading the Columbia over the line by 30 seconds. Later, when he had established a lead of 2 minutes 17 seconds on the two reaches to the race well in hand for the Blue Nose, he was able to make a dash to windward, Walters threw his advantage overboard by overhauling him.

When the Blue Nose came about for the mark the Columbia came about too, and at the broy the official timing decided it was dead heat as between the two schooners.

Then came a fight for the weather berth. The struggle was limited only by the rugged rock of Chebucto Head jutting out to weather of the maneuvering schooners. Paine kept edging Walters up to weather, but try as he might he could not shake off his rival.

Fighting for a piece of the heavy-weight picture, Young Bob will be called upon to sidetrack Philadelphia's most promising big man to continue his upward climb. And Stone, the fighting marine, winner of 15 out of 20 bouts via the knockout route, has been nominated as Fitz's opponent.

After an injury to one of his hands, which forced him to remain idle for several months, Stone is ready. The former marine is a member of the hard-hitting school of leather-punching. In meeting Fitzsimmons he will be sent against his hardest test. Young Bob has come forward with a rush in the last year.

The two heavyweights will meet just before Harry (Kid) Brown, Philadelphia's lightweight hope to fill the shoes of Len Fiedler in the role of challenger, clashes with Freddy Jacks, of England.

Two featherweight rivals, both champions of the world, will be in the ring when they meet on the night of November 5 in the third of five eight-round bouts at the arena.

Tech Squad in Good Shape After Gruelling Grid Test

Yellow Jackets Will Be Drilled Thoroughly This Week in Effort to Smooth Out Flaws in Team's Attack.

BY JOHN STATON.

Mrs. Robinson and Miss Douglas Paine Will Meet in First Match in the Championship Division.

The qualifying round in the Women's city golf championship tournament was played at East Lake yesterday, Mrs. L. J. Robinson, former champion, was second with a 96. Mrs. Dozier Lowndes, the present city champion, was second with a 96. Mrs. L. H. Beck, former titleholder, won the third place with a 98, and Mrs. T. T. Williams copped fourth with a 99. Mrs. Lowndes and Mrs. Robinson were paired together.

Mrs. Lowndes was off her game. On the greens on six holes on the first side she used eighteen putts, an average of three to the green.

She was one up on Mrs. Lowndes at the turn, but the latter went one stroke up when she holed out with a five on ten, Mrs. Robinson taking seven. Going out, Mrs. Lowndes tried a number of putts but was unable to run down a putt on a green under two strokes and missed an eighteen-putt on a four on seventeen.

Mrs. L. H. Beck played a very steady game. She went out in 47 and in with 52, for a total of 99. She was off on her putting on the 18th hole. She drove the green and took four putts, holing out with a five and taking a 5 on the 18 hole.

Mrs. Williams Steady.

Mrs. T. T. Williams played a very steady game after getting a bad start, taking 8 on the first hole. She steadied down and made pars on two and six and a birdie three on number 5, turning with a 47 and coming in with a 52, a total of 99.

Mrs. T. J. Ripley was hostess Monday evening at a bridge-supper at her home in Ansley Park in compliment to Mrs. Robert E. L. Hall, of Washington, D. C., who is the guest of Mrs. Warren D. White.

The rooms where the game was played were artistically decorated with a profusion of var-colored autumn flowers and potted plants.

The table in the dining room was overlaid with a cover of lace and maderia. A large silver basket filled with rose-colored chrysanthemums adorned the center and was enriched by silver candlesticks holding unshaded rose-colored tapers.

Mrs. Ripley received her guests with the wearing of costumes is not absolutely essential, they desire that as many as possible who expect to be there provide themselves with costumes appropriate to the occasion.

The magnificent ball room has been beautifully decorated with hundreds of real pumpkins, corn stalks, a profusion of autumn flowers and the usual color scheme, orange and black bunting, has been beautifully draped about the entire place. In addition, a new and unique electric lighting system has been installed to represent fire flies which will fill all around the ball room when the lights are turned off.

Among those who have been assisting the entertainment committee in preparing for the event are Mrs. A. H. Martin, Mrs. L. F. McClelland, Mrs. Ed Bond and Mrs. Arthur I. May.

One of the largest gatherings ever assembled in the ball room at the Elks' club, 40 East Ellis street, is expected to be on hand for the annual Halloween ball this evening which the entertainment committee of Atlanta lodge of Elks expects will be the most magnificent ever held.

First Showing in Atlanta of the Newest Sports Apparel for Town and Country

Surely there breathes not a woman "with soul so dead" but would thrill to the charm of such apparel as this!

The Knitted Dress

Such grace of line, such beauty of color, such concrete evidence of that elusive feature known as "smart"—and all combine with a comfort and practicability rarely seen in women's apparel!

The one-piece dress of slender, straight lines is knitted of beautiful soft camel's hair in plaids, checks and solid shades of most pleasing colors and color combinations.

Silk and wool mixtures are exquisitely combined in two-tone and solid color effects. Some of the models are very deftly knitted in all-over figured designs that are exceedingly attractive.

Russian Colorings

Jacob's coat of every hue was no more colorful than some of the magnificent examples of all-over color design to be seen in some of the models—truly, color runs riot, but withal, so delightfully blended as to form an irresistible appeal.

Sports Dresses

Imported novelty wools of most beautiful texture and patterns, in checks, plaids and stripes, are seen in these ultra-smart sports frocks. Some show wool crepe bodice with plaid or checked skirt.

Of striking design are the very bold Scotch plaids and very large checks shown in every pleasing color combination. Small plaids and checks and stripes, too, are frequently used.

Beautiful Tailoring

The perfect fit due to faultless tailoring is one of the greatest charms of these delightfully simple dresses.

Trimings of large buttons and loops and many rows of very small buttons are much used.

Natural furs of Badger and Viatka Squirrel form the collars and cuffs of some of the models.

Special Showing—Second Floor

The unique charm of these knitted frocks lies as much in their correct and graceful fit as in the beauty of design and coloring seen in the unusual fabrics.

The Knitted Suit

The suit of coat and skirt is shown in many charming variations. All-over figured coats are shown with plain skirts.

Suits of solid color are trimmed in bands of bright embroidery on coat and skirt.

Stunning colors will be seen in the embroidered designs as well as in the beautiful two-tone combinations.

Very broad or graduated stripes are exceedingly effective as shown on many two-color suits.

Sport Coats

The vogue of the sport coat is so firmly fixed as to make it almost a necessity these days. Such a practical affair it is, too—big and warm, of decidedly smart appearance, and made of such fabrics as best stand the knock-about wear for which it is intended.

The Three-Quarter Length

Newest of the new in sport coats are those of "three-quarter" length. A model of exquisite beige colored veldyne is trimmed on collar, cuffs and triple-banded round bottom with unusually fine natural raccoon.

A magnificent model of black Tarquina shows very striking and colorful all-over Russian embroidery, with collar, cuffs and bands of black fox.

Another stunning coat of gray tones is all-over embroidered and trimmed in taupe fox.

Other Sport Coats

There are remarkably pretty coats of plaids, stripes and solids at the very modest price of $25.

Other coats in handsomer materials are shown in smartly tailored self-trimmed models or with trimmings of the natural furs, such as lynx, opossum, raccoon, beaver and the fox furs.

Federated Club Women Are Invited to Good Roads Meets

One thousand members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs will attend the national good roads convention to be held in Albuquerque, N. M., which has been arranged for the week before the winter in Los Angeles may stop off for this purpose.

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the general, who is in Albuquerque, has accepted the good roads invitation. She is quite enthusiastic over the convention and is deeply interested in the aims of the organization, and will attend the convention.

A committee consisting of Colonel J. A. Roundtree, Senator H. O. Burton and M. L. Fox called upon Mrs. Winter and extended the invitation which was accepted. Mrs. Winter will work toward the end that women delegates to the Los Angeles convention stop off in Albuquerque en route to the coast, she told members of the committee.

The date of the convention has been set up one week, May 21-31 inclusive, in order that the women of the general federation may attend, as requested by federated officials.

Members of the New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs were in annual session and Mrs. Winter was in attendance.

Mrs. Albert Thornton, of Atlanta, is an active member of the Good Roads association and is vice president at large. More than 50 women delegates attended the national good roads convention last year.

Mrs. Robert K. Rambo, of Atlanta, is commissioner for Georgia in the Bankhead highway. Both Mrs. Thornton and Mrs. Rambo have created unusual interest in good roads throughout Georgia.

The convention will be held in the new Barnett theater and the armory.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrup, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membrane gently and easily, so that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute relief. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

She Found This Well-Known Tonic for Women Beneficial in Her Own Case and Recommends It to Others.

Hopewell, Va.—This famous Dupont gunpowder town, that suddenly sprang up and gave employment to thousands during the World War, was eight years old in April. Most of the families that came in war times have gone, but many bought homes and remained. Among the first arrivals were Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Trevathan, of Vermont, who bought property here and now have a pleasant home in Kettle Ground Annex.

In a recently given statement, Mrs. Trevathan said: "At times I have had such severe pains in my sides I did not know what to do. I am a trained nurse by profession, and nurse until I married. I was on my feet a great deal and this seemed to aggravate my trouble."

"One day I read about Cardui in the paper at my home in Vermont. I got a bottle and tried it. It has been a great deal of good. . . . The pains in my side used to grow very intense. I would take the Cardui by the directions and it helped me wonderfully. . . . My appetite grew very poor. I did not care for anything to eat, but when I took a few doses of Cardui, my appetite picked up. I wouldn't be without it."

Mrs. Trevathan said she had recommended Cardui to a great many women whom she had nursed. "I am glad to give this statement," she said, "so that other women may know about the wonderful benefits of Cardui." At all druggists.

TO RELIEVE PAIN AND BACKACHE

Women May Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I had heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that when I realized I needed to take something to relieve my pains and backache, and to help build me up, I began to take that had been sick and on for years and barely weighed a hundred pounds, but now I have had such good results that I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to every one."—Mrs. J. J. BIEBER, 3839 18th Ave. South, Minneapolis, Minn.

Finds a True Friend

"Every woman who values her health should be proud to have a true friend like the Vegetable Compound," says Mrs. W. E. Shaw, 3227 Walnut Street, Chicago, Illinois. "I had female weakness so badly that I could not stand on my feet. Half of my time was spent in bed and I had pains in my back which were unbearable. I tried everything I could think of to help myself, and when a friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began taking it at once. I recommend it without hesitation."

The Constitution's Patterns

BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE

There may be no room for the Long, Full, Bouffant Skirt. But the Peg Top or Cambrion Silhouette Gives Width of Hips.

The bouffant skirt has tried, desperately to succeed. Or rather those who admire the silhouette of the bouffant skirt have done what they could to push it into a position where it would eventually supplant the straight and narrow gipsy outline. But it was doomed to failure. Perhaps after years of the straight skirt line a swinging back to the full skirt was natural—if anything in fashion can be spoken of as natural—but the wide full skirt that has been presented and that has been worn on the stage, by bridesmaids and by young girls at dances has not been the skirt that anyone would choose for frequent wearing in this day of crowded houses, small apartments, motor cars and the rest. A canned sardine might as well hope to have the outline of a Japanese baloon fish.

The gas-pipe silhouette seems to be still with us, but the gas pipe is means of stiffening. The effect is what you might call peg-top. Shanel has given us a suggestion of the same silhouette in evening gowns that show a drapery of the fabric over the hips. The brown velvet frock in the sketch, worn by a smart American woman, gives the same effect. Here, however, there are ruffles, three in number, of the velvet over each hip. They are embroidered in gold thread, and are stiffened by some sort of wire between the velvet and the lining.

Sometimes this peg-topped effect is produced by the shaping of pockets, and one of the new short fur jackets of caracul shows the peg-top effect produced by wide, deep pockets on the hips.

SENATOR BROOKHART VISITS FORT BENNING

Columbus, Ga., October 29.—Senator Smith W. Brookhart, of Iowa, today visited the United States infantry school, Fort Benning, as the guest of the officials of the post and is at the home of Colonel Bjornstad, assistant commandant.

Senator Brookhart slipped into the city unobserved this morning, coming with a stranger by automobile from Opelika, Ala.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in Atlanta, Ga., for week ending Saturday, October 27, 1923, on shipments sold out, ranged from 8.00 cents to 20.00 cents per pound and averaged 11.97 cents per pound.—(adv.)

Sawmills Busy.

Sparta, Ga., October 29.—(Special.) Saw mills and planing mills of this county continue to run full time, the output being shipped to northern and eastern markets as quickly as it can be hauled to the planers and stacked in waiting box cars. The market price, while not as high as formerly, is still sufficiently high to give a profit to the lumber operators.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrup, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membrane gently and easily, so that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute relief. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

NURSE TALKS ABOUT CARDUI

She Found This Well-Known Tonic for Women Beneficial in Her Own Case and Recommends It to Others.

Hopewell, Va.—This famous Dupont gunpowder town, that suddenly sprang up and gave employment to thousands during the World War, was eight years old in April. Most of the families that came in war times have gone, but many bought homes and remained. Among the first arrivals were Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Trevathan, of Vermont, who bought property here and now have a pleasant home in Kettle Ground Annex.

In a recently given statement, Mrs. Trevathan said: "At times I have had such severe pains in my sides I did not know what to do. I am a trained nurse by profession, and nurse until I married. I was on my feet a great deal and this seemed to aggravate my trouble."

"One day I read about Cardui in the paper at my home in Vermont. I got a bottle and tried it. It has been a great deal of good. . . . The pains in my side used to grow very intense. I would take the Cardui by the directions and it helped me wonderfully. . . . My appetite grew very poor. I did not care for anything to eat, but when I took a few doses of Cardui, my appetite picked up. I wouldn't be without it."

Mrs. Trevathan said she had recommended Cardui to a great many women whom she had nursed. "I am glad to give this statement," she said, "so that other women may know about the wonderful benefits of Cardui." At all druggists.

Women May Depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I had heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that when I realized I needed to take something to relieve my pains and backache, and to help build me up, I began to take that had been sick and on for years and barely weighed a hundred pounds, but now I have had such good results that I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to every one."—Mrs. J. J. BIEBER, 3839 18th Ave. South, Minneapolis, Minn.

Finds a True Friend

"Every woman who values her health should be proud to have a true friend like the Vegetable Compound," says Mrs. W. E. Shaw, 3227 Walnut Street, Chicago, Illinois. "I had female weakness so badly that I could not stand on my feet. Half of my time was spent in bed and I had pains in my back which were unbearable. I tried everything I could think of to help myself, and when a friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began taking it at once. I recommend it without hesitation."

Olive Complexion.—A girl who is 5 feet 11 inch in height at 10 years of age should measure about 110 pounds. As you wear a No. 5 shoe of unusual width, 13 inches about the calf would be a proportionate measurement.

New York, October 29.—A sharp early decline in the cotton market was not only recovered but prices sold above Saturday's closing figures during the late trading. January contracts, after declining to 29.55 early, or 60 points net lower, sold up to 30.20, or 14 points net higher and closed at 30.25. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 1 to 11 points.

There was a decidedly more bearish or reactionary sentiment in evidence at the opening, appearing to be relatively easy cables, apprehensions that a bullish government crop report on Friday had been discontinued, and reports that the south was willing to market spot cotton very freely at the 30 cents level. As a result the opening was barely steady at 29.10, but generally 2 to 20 points lower and the market was weak and unsettled during the early trading. In addition to liquidation there seemed to be considerable selling here for southern account, and it was reported that some of the trading orders which had been in the market for execution on a scale down were being withdrawn. Stop orders were being uncovered on the decline which carried prices off to 29.15 for December and 29.05 for March, making net losses of about 40 to 60 points on the general market.

Offerings then tapered off and the market firmed up during the afternoon on covering and re-buying by old long holders, and the early decline was followed by the failure of hedge selling to increase on the decline, more encouraging reports from the goods market, and the crop report of a Chicago authority estimating the yield at 21,218,000 bales compared with 20,800,000 bales for 1922. The cotton market was within 4 or 5 points of the level of the previous day, and a good buyer here at the close and is believed to be unding straddles between that market and New York.

AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, October 29.—While the cotton market was very early trading had all the indications that a reaction of importance was under way, new buying of consequence met the decline, and the market was the face of extensive liquidation of long contracts and finally closed at net gains on the day of 12 to 18 points, the last sale of the December position, being at 30.25 cents a pound, or just about a quarter of a cent under the high of the season.

For the gains several factors were responsible, the most important being the better advice, unfavorable weather in the belt and rain over the crop estimates, one of them putting the yield at 20,218,000 bales and another at 20,800,000. Much rain over Sunday was reported in the western division of the belt and the forecast of further rains west of the Mississippi river, with snow and freezing weather likely in some parts of the northwest. North Carolina mill politics given the demand for cloth had improved and cablegrams from Liverpool, claiming the best business of the season in Manchester, helped the market to its highest, where it stood at 30.20 for December, with the list 14 to 19 points over Saturday's close.

The opening was lower and the early session saw declines of 21 to 45 points, to 29.15 for December, in sympathy with a sudden break in Liverpool. Private cables from that market claimed that it had been depressed by American selling orders, which caught stop loss orders on the long side.

MALARIA-CONTROL

WORK FUNDS NOT CUT, STATES LORD
General Lord, director of the federal budget bureau, Monday advised Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, that his bureau had not taken any steps to reduce the appropriation for malaria control work in the south under the public health service as compared with the funds for the present fiscal year.

The Georgia senator had previously urged to General Lord about reports that a reduction would be made in the estimates of the public health service.

General Lord assured Senator Harris that he would give his personal attention to the budget estimates when they were taken up. Senator Harris is urging to General Lord about reports that a reduction would be made in the estimates of the public health service.

Use of negroes as slaves by the Arabs is said to have given the first hint of slavery to Europeans.
